Dear [Redacted]:

General Smith has asked me to acknowledge your letter of July 1, 1951, and also to check again with our Personnel Office to determine whether we now have a vacancy in which your services could be utilized.

I have been advised by our Director of Personnel that at the present time we do not have a suitable vacancy for an individual with your qualifications. However, your application is being retained in the active files and should such a vacancy occur you will be notified immediately.

Sincerely,

Dear

Lieutenant General Walter Bedell Smith has asked me to acknowledge, with thanks, your letter of June 21st.

As nearly as can be determined at this time, the General will be free and most happy to see you at 3:00 P.M., on Friday, June 29th, provided, of course, that it will be convenient for you to come to Washington at that time.

The General's office is located in the Administration Building at 2430 E Street N. W.

Sincerely,

Dear :

Lieutenant General Walter Bedell Smith has asked me to inform you that, due to his absence from the city, he will be unable to see you at 3:00 P.M., Tuesday, June 26th, as suggested in his letter to you of 14 June 1951.

The General deeply regrets that circumstances have made necessary the cancellation of your appointment.

Sincerely,

Dear [Redacted]:

STAT

Thank you for your cordial letter of March 24th. I will be happy to assist your husband if I can but caution that [Redacted] comment with regard to my having a finger on the pulse of all government service is a very generous overstatement.

However, it is possible that we might have something here at the Central Intelligence Agency where his qualifications and experiences might be suitably employed. To this end, I suggest that you ask [Redacted] to contact my Personnel Director, Mr. William Kelly. His telephone number is Executive [Redacted] STAT
